

BONAR LAW IS GIVEN SUPPORT IN PARLIAMENT

House of Lords Voices Opposition to French Plans of Military Occupation

LONDON, Dec. 13.—(By the Associated Press)—An interesting debate took place today in the house of lords on the question of reparations and interallied debts, a feature being the general support recorded Premier Bonar Law's statement of yesterday Lord Birkenhead, in opening the discussion, strongly opposed Great Britain's giving the slightest countenance to participation in military sanctions as urged by M. Poincaré, as these involved risks. He declared it would be impossible to control the German forests and mines without a force of occupation, the cost of which would immensely reduce any cash result.

While ridiculing the idea that Germany had any capacity for armed resistance or could secretly become a military menace to her neighbors, Birkenhead pointed out that Germany was still formidable and there were limits to the humiliations which it would be wise to put upon her. He believed it would be extremely difficult to recommend to the British people a policy involving the payment of the American debt and the remission of both German reparations and European debts.

Viscount Grey said that if the proposed Paris conference of January 2 failed it would bring Europe a step nearer to collapse. He also dilated on the sterility of the policy of doing nothing, although he agreed with Lord Birkenhead's caution against taking a false step.

Pointing out that even if England were able to recover the debts from France and Italy it would simply mean perpetuation of the present unsatisfactory position toward European recovery. He added: "If by remitting the European debts we could substantially promote the security and economic recovery of Europe we should be immense gainers."

Arguing the close connection between the questions of reparations and interallied debts and disarmament which ought to be considered as a whole, he at the same time declared that Great Britain could not wait for France to ratify the Washington treaties before considering the question of interallied debts. He urged the summoning of some such international commission of bankers as previously discussed in the question. Strengthening the league of nations also was necessary because European recovery depended largely on obtaining political freedom.

STAGE BLOODLESS DUEL

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Dec. 13. (By the Associated Press)—Dr. Baltazar Brum, president of Uruguay, and Dr. Luis Alberto Herrera, former secretary of the legation at Washington, fought a duel with pistols late this afternoon. Each man fired two shots. Neither was hit.

WOULD REGULATE EMPLOYMENT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—A resolution proposing a constitutional amendment giving congress power to regulate employment of women and children under 18 years of age, was introduced today by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, the Republican leader.

SHIPPING BILL DEBATE

He emphasized the national defense possibilities of a firmly established American merchant marine and declared that German merchant marine won the war for the allies. When Senators expressed surprise at the declaration he presented figures to show that German ships which were seized in American ports carried 600,000 American soldiers to France, whereas, American ships transported only 248,000 troops.

"Why, Senators," he exclaimed, "if we had gotten only about 240,000 troops overseas the result of the world war would have been different."

Senator Fletcher quoted Chairman Lasker of the shipping board as having said that "it is pure bunk" to charge that the cost of operating American ships was increased materially by the LaFollette seaman's act. He asserted that his investigation had convinced him there was no practical difference in the cost of operating vessels under the American flag as compared with those under foreign flags and insisted that higher wage scales could not be used as an argument for government aid for American shipping.

The Florida senator declared the shipping board had conducted obnoxious propaganda in behalf of the legislation and said that speakers sent out by the board had "resorted to every possible means to create public opinion in support of this bill without dealing with the fundamental facts regarding it."

tion of the maximum size of guns they could carry to eight inch weapons. In addition to the new cruiser program, the committee is known to have been informed of the general board's recommendation that a start be made on modernizing the pre-Jutland battleships of the navy, the point being made that Great Britain has already remodeled to a large extent to increase gun range and deck protection of her capital ships to be retained under the treaty. The American modernization project would cost in the neighborhood of $60,000,000 it has been estimated. Lacking such remodeling work, American 14-inch gun ships would remain out-ranged by other wise similar but modernized British ships by five miles navy officers have declared.

Faced with this doubt prospect of heavy naval expenditures in the near future, Chairman Kelly turned to President Harding for the capital ships treaty ratio in such a way to avoid such outlay. The request to the president was placed at the very end of the 55 page naval bill. It reads:

"The president is requested to enter negotiations with the governments of Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan with the view of reaching agreement relative to limiting the construction of all types and sizes of sub surface and surface craft of 10,000 tons standard displacement or less, and of aircraft."

The suggestion was made by some members of the house that the paragraph might be subject to a point of order, and hence go out in the house. It was indicated, however, that there was every reason to believe the senate would put it back into the bill, which in the shape of a conference report would bring it before the house to be voted up or down.

It was claimed by committee friends of the Kelly proposal that the saving in capital ships expenditures under the arms treaty would be more than offset in the building of lighter vessels of a size permitted by treaty, and that this situation possibly prevailed as to other participants.

The bill will be taken up tomorrow and while the disarmament issue is not expected to be reached before Thursday at the earliest, Mr. Kelly in charge of the bill will explain at the outset the nature of the request and give his reasons for the proposed step.

for the defense the witness said that she had been her stepmother's "comforter" and that there had been no cross words between them. Asked why she had turned against Mrs. Brunen, she said:

"Because of the things I knew that I had put together, the opinion of the public and the confession of that man there who committed the murder." Here she pointed at Powell.

CASE MAY BE DROPPED

viously the committee had completed taking of evidence on the first of the 14 specifications—that charging Mr. Daugherty had knowingly appointed to office men who were "untrustworthy, corrupt and dangerous to the liberties of the peoples of the United States."

Most of the evidence relating to this specification had to do with charges against William J. Burns, director of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice and a defense of Mr. Burns against those charges.

Witnesses included Mr. Burns, Senator Johnson of California, former Attorney General Wickersham and Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor. Testimony during the three sessions—morning, afternoon and night—covered a wide range, beginning with the O'Connell land fraud trials in 1905 and running through the arrest and confession of the McNamara brothers in the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times Building, and events of more recent date. Numerous names were the political fraud which developed between Taft and Roosevelt in 1912 and the assistance which the American Federation of Labor is rendering representative Keller, Republican, of Minnesota in the present action of some of his charges against Mr. Daugherty.

Mr. Burns, whose alleged activities in connection with the drawing of a jury for the trial of Willard N. Jones in the Oregon fraud cases was the principal subject of the evidence submitted at the opening of the hearings yesterday, was called to the stand by Paul Howland, personal attorney for Mr. Daugherty. He not only denied in general and in considerable detail that there was anything improper in his conduct as a government agent in Oregon, under Francis J. Heney, but asserted that President Taft, in granting a pardon to Jones had been "deceived" and that Jones had "paid for" the pardon.

Senator Johnson preceded Mr. Burns to the stand, being introduced by Mr. Howland as a character witness for the investigation bureau director. Senator Johnson declared he had known Mr. Burns intimately during the graft prosecutions in San Francisco after the fire of 1906 and had urged his appointment to his present post by Mr. Daugherty. He added that he had observed Mr. Burns under the "pressure and under the fire" in the San Francisco investigation and had commended him to the attorney general as a man of integrity and possessing the qualifications essential to the office to which he aspired.

In his testimony, Mr. Burns not only dealt at considerable length with the Jones case, but charged that since the arrest of the McNamara brothers, Samuel Gompers had "hounded him" at every opportunity.

further service tomorrow, according to Colonel McNab, who said that the Mexican country adjacent to the border had now been well covered but that an expedition might be sent tomorrow to a more distant point where a plane was rumored to have been seen last Thursday. Colonel McNab however said he believed this rumor was "improbable."

Five additional airplanes which expected to arrive here today from San Diego, Calif., remained in the coast city on account of rainy weather.

OWNERS WOULD CURB HITTING OF HOME RUNS

Would Also Bar Exasperated Fans From Venting Feelings in Pop Bottle Throwing

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—The American league at its annual meeting today took action to check what it regarded as two detrimental to the national game—home run hitting and pop bottle throwing.

"The club owners recommended to the joint rules committee, representing both the American and the National leagues that home rules be established in all big league parks to curb the abnormal growth of circuit hitting, and urged that steps be taken to regulate the sale of soft drinks so that fans no longer would be tempted to use the bottles as missiles. The league, which closed its 1923 sessions late today, also voted to open the season on Wednesday, April 18, and decided to establish a fund of $50,000 to aid disabled ball players or their families by setting aside $10,000 annually for five years beginning in 1923, from the American league's share of the world series receipts.

Adjustment of opening dates with the national league which yesterday decided to start the 1923 campaign on Tuesday, April 17, was left to the joint schedule committee, with the understanding it was said that the older organization would agree to April 18 as a joint date.

The action designed to curb home run hitting was the result of a decision of the majority of club owners that the increased heavy batting was a detriment to the popularity of the game.

Colonel Jacob Ruppert, Yankee owner, was understood to have opposed the zoning system, which among others, would have a marked effect on the home run achievements of Babe Ruth, who established the individual high mark for all time in 1921 with 59 homers. The peak in league home run records was reached last year when batsmen in the two leagues collected 1,054 circuit blows, more than 100 in excess of the best previous mark, 936 made in 1921.

Discussion of players deals throughout the day in the American league centered around the reported offer of the New York Yankees to trade Bob Meusel, Aaron Ward and a pitcher to the Chicago White Sox for Eddie Collins and Dick Kerr, but late in the day officials of both clubs said the deal was still in the air.

"We have made the Chicago club a definite proposition for Collins," Colonel Ruppert said, "but as yet have received no reply."

File 69 Charges of Dry Law Violation

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 12.—Sixty-nine informations charging violation of the federal prohibition amendment were filed in federal court here today by United States district attorney's office.

According to Frederick H. Bernard, United States district attorney for Arizona, nearly half of the informations charge unlawful sale of liquor.

Approximately one third allege manufacture and the remainder charge transportation and possession. A large majority of the defendants have already been apprehended by the authorities and are either in jail or at liberty under bail.

another troop was sent out on a scouting expedition along the western foothills of the Whetstones.

The troops were sent to this section of the country on account of a report that reached Fort Huachuca that a rancher in that section had heard an airplane motor missing fire in that section and later a loud explosion. On account of cloudy conditions of the weather at that time he was unable to see the plane.

Oklahoma Man Takes Stand Against Smith in Parker Bank Case

YUMA, Ariz., Dec. 12.—Thomas E. Sullivan of Oklahoma City took the stand late this afternoon as the first witness in the trial of Alva E. Smith, charged with misappropriation of funds from the Valley Bank of Parker, Arizona, of which he was vice president.

Smith is also wanted in Oklahoma and Nebraska on charges in connection with his banking operations.

Most of the day was spent in the selection of a jury and Sullivan's testimony was not concluded when court adjourned until tomorrow.

Sullivan testified that he became acquainted with Smith in Oklahoma City. He told of conversations he had had with Smith before and after the latter's trip to Arizona last June during which he purchased stock in the Parker bank.

RAIDS ILLEGAL SAYS JUDGE IN COURT RULING

Declares Federal Warrants Must Be Secured by Federal Officers Seeking Liquor

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 13.—Federal warrants must be secured by federal officers who wish to conduct a search of private homes for liquor, according to a ruling by Judge William H. Sawtelle in the United States district court today.

State warrants do not empower federal agents to make a search of private residences and evidence collected in such searches cannot be used to prosecute individuals in a federal court, under the ruling, which was by Judge Sawtelle in dismissing five charges alleging violation of the liquor law on the grounds that the evidence was secured in illegal raids.

All searches of homes by federal agents must be conducted according to federal statutes which provide that said agents must be armed with federal search warrants the court held.

The court also held, in dismissing one of the cases, that a lessee has the same right to protection against illegal searches of his home as the owner of the property.

EXPEDITING OF VETS' HOSPITAL PROGRAM URGED

Sixty-Five Per Cent of Men Who Applied for Training in 1919 Still on Rolls

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Necessity for expediting the government's new hospital program was emphasized tonight by Director C. R. Forbes of the veterans bureau in his annual report to congress covering the activities of the bureau for the year ending June 30, 1922. Nine of the hospitals now in use, comprising 3700 beds, he said, have about arrived at the point where "deterioration will be so complete that repair will be impossible and they must be abandoned. These hospitals are of the cantonment type of temporary construction.

More than 850,000 claims for compensation have been filed since government aid for veterans was begun, the report said and of these all but 45,000 had been examined and acted upon. Applications received for vocational training numbered 630,000, of which 56,000 were pending at the end of the fiscal year.

Up to the date of the report, 58,875 death compensation claims had been allowed, representing a monthly payment of about $1,350,000, or $26.31 per case.

After making generous allowances for all data which is not available the report declared "it is probable that dependents and beneficiaries of all men who died in service are receiving payments for insurance or compensation."

Sixty-five per cent of the men who applied for vocational training in the first year it was offered (1919) are

Public Now Prefers Vegetable Laxatives

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin affords prompt relief in a natural way

THE public is constantly becoming more discriminating in its choice of things. Those subject to constipation try to learn what makes them constipated, and then avoid it. If constipation persists in spite of all their efforts they take the mildest, most easily tolerated laxative obtainable, and not a drastic physic that upsets them for days afterwards. As over 10 million bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are sold a year, a large proportion of the people of this country must believe that this mild vegetable compound is the proper remedy for them, and so it is. No need to take salt waters and powders that dry up the blood; cost-tar drugs in candy form that produce skin eruptions, or calomel that salivates. These drugs are "hercic measures", over-effective, weakening and gripping.

The best constipation remedy is the one that moves the bowels without shock to your system, and such a one is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a vegetable compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with pleasant-tasting aromatics, and has been satisfactorily sold for 30 years. Unlike the harsher physics it does not produce a habit, and increased doses are not required; in fact, it so trains the stomach muscles that in time medicines of all kinds can be dispensed with.

Many take a teaspoonful of Syrup Pepsin once a week as a health safeguard. Others use it only when required, as, for example, Mrs. J. W. Burroughs of Little Rock, Ark., who finds it equally valuable for herself and the children, and Mr. E. S. Costa of Watsonville, Cal., whose family uses it regularly. Try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in constipation, biliousness, piles, headaches, sallow complexion, and to break up fevers and colds. A generous bottle can be had at any drug store, and it costs only about a cent a dose!
